The State of the Map

The premier conference of the open geodata world

The State of the Map is the conference of OpenStreetMap, the project that is making a free map of the world. The conference will feature two days of talks and workshops covering every aspect of OpenStreetMap and open geodata.

If you are involved in cartography, GIS, free software, geo-caching or if you want to find out more about how OSM is mapping the world, this is the event for you.
